Easy flow yet simple design. If only the designs were ranged in different colors or more unique design would be great. However, simplicity is good

	2021/03/10 3:46:49 AM GMT+8	3	4		9	6	1	5	It looks kinda nice, but there are too many colors being used. We go from navy blue to white and bright orange. Not sure what happens when u click start/stop (does it activate something? Does it start a simulation? I dont know what its supposed to do). Spacing could be better between text on login page. Login screen picture needs to look better (rounded corners? Something other than just a box). Shouldnt "new account" be below the login button? Love the blue ui bar on the left

	2021/03/10 10:42:18 AM GMT+8	8	7	5	10	10	5	8	The registration page looks a little cluttered because there are a lot of words clumped together at the top. Maybe have the words "Create Username and Password" as one line instead of two.
	2021/03/10 11:08:40 AM GMT+8	7	5	4	7	7	4	7	Color of login and main page doesnt really match
									It's a nice interface you where able to create. The theme runs throughout the different pages.
									It would be great if there were also 'information' or 'help' tabs on each page for reference and making it usable without any extra help.
									Also, a variety of views of the court and a map of where the bot has cleaned or projected cleaning route can be useful.
									Future options that might be also handy for one to highlight a section of court to be cleaned and / or a preset radius for quick cleans between game slots. Quick clean spots would be useful for user to know how much it can clean in a selected amount of time to that location. Real life examples are if bookings had a 5 minute gap, the bot can indicate and highlight the space in a secondary color.
									Even crazier would be for the cleaning bot to understand the usage of the court and predict the maintenance for the user.

									Ah boi can make the login text field bigger ah gong old already cannot see
	2021/03/10 4:34:17 PM GMT+8	7	7	3	7	7	3	7	There's a bit of colour mismatch between the login page and main app, which almost made me think it was a different app altogether.
	2021/03/10 4:45:24 PM GMT+8	6	6	5	9	8	3	6	Side navbar and toptanbar have inconsistent colour scheme might be a bit distracting to the end user - suggestion for using a similar colour for both navbars.

	2021/03/10 7:03:43 PM GMT+8	3	7	3	9	7	3	4	Put the start on the right and the stop on the left, maybe with basic symbols (octagon, triangle). Also if there are this few buttons you could probably put the timing banner horizontally along the bottom. I'm not familiar with the application so it depends how often you expect the user to be changing the timing (I'd imagine the user clicks the start and stop a lot but maybe only sets the time once? If the time needs to be set often maybe put it on the bottom)

									It would have been nice if you gave a description of what the program did. It looks like it's navigable but without knowing the purpose of the app, I have no idea what I need to do in order to use it.
	2021/03/13 1:40:23 AM GMT+8	6	4	4	7	7	2	6	I strongly disagreed for the layout consistency because of the color matching between the title screen dark blue and the main screen blue and orange gradients don't fit very well.

Ethics approval was eventually granted, gives the team ability to publish results for all thirty responses.	2021/03/19 9:49:48 PM GMT+8	8	8	2	8	8	5	10	available times (morning, afternoon, evening) is ambiguous and subject to interpretation. As for the image, I understand what the words mean themselves, but no idea between the difference when "pause" and "stop" is pressed. Looking great! A couple things I'd improve though: reduce the amount of colours used, the home screen looks very nice, and so does the scheduling panel, the bright orange/green/yellow colours seem out of place, perhaps work with less colours and more shades? On the second screen I would work on the spacing, it's all quite tight, there are a bit many font sizes in play, I would keep that to 2 or 3 at most. But the overall usability seems great!
	2021/03/19 11:53:43 PM GMT+8	7	5	4	10	8	2	8	So far so good, I really like the color scheme on the left sidebar in the main page. Ideally, the login page needs a little more work imo, at least replacing the image of the court with the logo of your project is better to opt for the minimalistic design
									Theo i find that there are too many colors in the main page, but it still manages to look nice overall. I would personally like to see preview of other camera options, but overall good work.
									I dont see the need on why there's a start now and a start option. What's the difference between the two? I can understand intuitively that start now is more like schedule the cleaning process to literally start now, but why two options? Would be nicer to have a "resume" button maybe? Up to you on how you approach this (Also actually i find the terms "morning", "afternoon" to be vague - If i wanted to use a tennis court i'd rather know exactly at what time I want to clean - it would be better to change that space to either bookmarked timings or for accessing scheduled sessions)
